NANZ

N° 1011

The No 1011 French Bull's Eye knob, designed by Steven Sclaroff, is based upon early 19th-century drum-shaped knobs. It features deep, highly-shaped ogee curves on the sides, much larger than the traditional French hardware that inspired it. It has a modern scale, but does not lose the level of detail and shape of the original. Perfect for either traditional or modern settings, the knob is available in all Nanz finishes. Backplates for cabinet knobs are offered upon request at an additional cost. Full mortise entry locks, privacy locks, passage latches, as well as tubular latches may be provided for use with this knob. It goes well with the companion No 2111 French Bull's Eye lever. A selection of related products is also available.
