

N° 2112

The No 2112 Edwardian lever achieves a sober masculinity through the repetition and variation of plain astragal moldings, ending in a barrel-shaped section surmounted by a shallow cone. The rose continues the motif with paired astragals around the edge. The restrained Edwardian design contrasts the often exuberant eclecticism of the preceding Victorian era. Finishes available include dark oxidized bronze, polished nickel and antique brass as well as a vast variety of other plated and patinated finishes. This handle can be used with traditional full-mortise locksets or manufactured for use with multi-point doors and tilt & turn windows.
