

Nº 2195

The No 2195 Renaissance Revival lever was designed in the 19th century during a period which embraced all historical periods for inspiration. The lever would have been incorporated into an ornate decorative scheme. The tapered rectangular handle with bow-shaped end joins the shank at a cylindrical terminal with turned face. The edges are slightly chamfered. This handle can be provided with a wide variety of alternative rose designs. It can be used with traditional full-mortise locksets or manufactured for use with multi-point doors, tilt & turn windows and lift & slide doors. Recommended finishes include antique gold, antique brass and pewter. All NANZ plated and patinated finishes are available.
